

Abdul Raaqib

abdul.raaqib2@gmail.com

ph- +371 25451218

To,

RSU International student association

Riga Stradins University, Riga- Latvia

Dear Members of the Selection Committee,

I am writing to express my genuine interest in applying for the position of Medical Science Officer at the RSU International Student Association (ISA). As a passionate medical student at Rīga Stradiņš University, I have always valued scientific growth, teamwork, and student engagement, and I am eager to apply my leadership, organizational, and communication skills to strengthen the academic and scientific environment of RSU.

Over the years, I have gained experience in leadership, project coordination, and community engagement through roles such as prefect, fundraiser, and volunteer. These experiences helped me develop a proactive approach to teamwork and problem-solving, as well as the ability to manage multiple responsibilities effectively. My background in debating and extempore speaking has sharpened my communication and presentation skills, enabling me to confidently represent and advocate for student interests. I am particularly inspired by the opportunity to organize educational and scientific events, foster collaboration among academic societies, and enhance student awareness of research opportunities at both local and international levels. I believe that encouraging scientific curiosity and providing accessible platforms for students to share and develop their ideas are vital for both personal growth and the advancement of our academic community.

I also value the ISA's mission to create an inclusive, supportive, and dynamic environment for all students. As someone who thrives in team-oriented settings, I would bring dedication, empathy, and creativity to this position. I am confident in my ability to lead projects, communicate effectively with the RSU Student Union and academic departments, and ensure that all initiatives under the Medical Science Office are carried out with enthusiasm and precision. I see this role not only as a chance to serve the student community but also as an opportunity to help shape an environment where students can grow academically, scientifically, and personally. I would be honored to contribute my energy, initiative, and sense of responsibility to the continued success and positive image of the RSU International student association.

Yours sincerely,
Abdul Raaqib