

Motivational Letter

I am writing to express my genuine interest in applying for the positions of Assistant to the Head of Sports and Integration, as well as Assistant and Head of Medical Sciences and Human Resources for the International Student Association (ISA). As a seventh-semester medical student and a nurse with professional experience, I am highly motivated to continue contributing to the RSU student community through these roles.

For the past year, I have been Assistant to the Head of the Sports and Integration Department, where we have worked to involve more students in ISA activities and create a stronger sense of community. This experience has helped me develop stronger teamwork, organisational, and communication skills, and has given me the opportunity to contribute to events that connect students from all over the world.

In the Medical Sciences Department, my nursing background gives me a solid understanding of teamwork and evidence-based practice. My nursing licence is registered in Italy, Gibraltar, the United Kingdom, and Malta. My degree has also been recognised in Latvia, and I am learning Latvian every day to be able to join the Ārstniecības personu un ārstniecības atbalsta personu reģistrs. Working in different countries such as Italy, the United Kingdom, Gibraltar, Isle of Man, Guernsey, and the Falkland Islands has given me valuable experience with different cultures and systems. I speak Italian, English, and Spanish, which helps me communicate easily with people from many backgrounds. I would like to support activities that help students share knowledge, improve their academic skills, and take part in seminars or research initiatives. I can also involve colleagues from around the world to participate in medical society activities.

I am also very interested in joining the Human Resources Department, where I can use my communication skills and empathy to support both internal and external cooperation for the best interest of the ISA. I believe that a positive and friendly environment helps everyone work better together and makes the organisation stronger.

My experience in healthcare, teamwork, and international environments, together with my commitment to integration and student life, makes me a strong candidate for these positions. I look forward continuing to support the ISA and the RSU student community.

Kind regards,
Antonio Gisolfi
